Churchyards Monuments & Graves

The Church of England in the Bowbrook Group

The Churchyards

All churches in the Group have churchyards that have space for new burials and interment of ashes. These are located at the churches in: Bredicot, Crowle, Hanbury, Himbleton, Huddington, Oddingley and Tibberton.

Public Access

Any person who lives within the parish boundary of the respective church has the right to be buried in the churchyard. Churchyards are sacred and special and are open to the public.

Maintenance and Management

The churchyards are under the care of the church. Their maintenance and management are the responsibility of the Parochial Church Council (PCC). Every effort is made to ensure that the churchyards are kept to an appropriate standard. This is, however, a substantial cost, borne by the PCC, which raises money from donations and the regular giving of the church congregations. We would encourage you to make a gift towards the upkeep of the churchyards in order to help us keep them in a good standard.

Churchyard Regulations

In order that we may manage the churchyards safely and fairly, the PCC has adopted a number of churchyard regulations. These set out the size, colour and design of memorial stones and what is permitted on a grave plot. These regulations are summarised overleaf, but a full copy can be found on our website or from the parish office.

Flowers and Decorations

In order to make the maintenance of the churchyards as straightforward as possible, the planting of flowers, plants or shrubs on a grave is not permitted. For the same reason, additional decorations of any form are not permitted. We do understand that newly-bereaved families may find comfort in placing some decoration on a grave. We therefore operate with some discretion over the rules and will permit some decorations, provided they are not permanent. Please do speak to the vicar and discuss your circumstances so we can assist you as much as possible, whilst not intruding on the grief of others.

Reserving a Plot

Churchyard plots cannot be bought and sold as individual property. The PCC does not usually allow plots to be reserved, except in exceptional circumstances. If you have a specific enquiry, please contact the parish office and our administrator will refer you to one of our clergy team.
